The 20th Tokyo Marathon

The Tokyo Marathon is one of the biggest and most prestigious races in the world — part of the Abbott World Marathon Majors, alongside Boston, London, Berlin, Chicago and New York.

Held every year in early spring, it draws tens of thousands of runners from around the world through iconic districts — Shinjuku, Asakusa and Ginza — a unique blend of modern architecture and Japanese tradition.

First run in 2007 and famous for flawless organisation and vibrant support, the 2027 race is the landmark 20th edition, with the field confirmed to grow for a record year in Tokyo.

Beyond race day, Tokyo is yours to explore: the Marathon EXPO for your race kit, the temples and gardens of Shinjuku, and the food, lights and energy of one of the world's great cities.
